Stay Within 'The Wheel of Worship'

This guide gives you a brief insight into the many fascinating sites, temples and attractions surrounding Jendela di Bali – a villa in the foothills near Ubud.

If you have downloaded this guide and would like to find out more about Jendela di Bali turn to the last page of this guide for more information.

The 'Wheel of Worship'

Villa Jendela di Bali is located in the centre of what we call the 'Wheel of Worship' – in every direction from the villa there are sacred hill temples, royal palaces, water gardens and the seaside and all of these sites have enormous religious meaning for the Balinese.

Almost weekly, the people from our high caste village of Penyembahan will make pilgrimage to the places described in this guide to pray, seek favour from the gods and gather holy water so essential for ceremonies back in the village.

In other parts of the world you can visit historic sites that had significance for past civilisations. What makes Bali so fascinating is that the places of historic significance that you can visit are still so vitally important to the Balinese of today – this is a living, breathing culture and religion that has an unbroken lineage going back thousands of years.

Quite often you'll find one of our staff have visited Pura Tirta Empul early one morning before they arrive to cook you breakfast. Or perhaps their relatives are on a pilgrimage to Besikah Temple or heading to the beach this very afternoon to make an offering for someone recently cremated.

Every day, almost every moment in every village there is a ceremony going on. In a Christian culture we have Christmas, Easter and every Sunday as religious events – in Bali just about every day has a religious significance.

You are staying in the heart of Bali and are perfectly placed to discover Bali's heart.

We hope you enjoy the adventure!

A tip for visiting temples

When visiting temples and sacred sites you will be asked to wear a sarong and sash. Each site will supply these for you to use during your visit (usually included in the nominal entrance fee).

However, if you would prefer not to use ones used by others, ask the villa staff to give you one of our freshly-laundered sarongs to take with you! We have a small supply ready for you to use.

Travel Times

Please note that the traffic in Bali is very unpredictable and the volume of cars on the road increases all the time with a burgeoning economy. Roads can be slowed or traffic halted for long periods due to ceremonies. The travel times in this guide are just an estimate – plan for trips to take longer to avoid disappointment.

Sacred Sites, Temples and Water Gardens

Jendela di Bali is blessed to be in the centre of what we call a 'wheel of worship' because we are surrounded by some of Bali's most significant sacred temples and relic sites. Many are those few tourists visit, so you are going to be discovering the heart of Bali. You can plan short trips out to one or two sites or string together a few to make a day trip. Many are on one of the two routes to Ubud, so you can plan to stop at one or two on the way in to Ubud for shopping, dining, or dance performance.

Ubud Village | Ubud (east of the villa)

Ubud offers a rich insight into Balinese art and culture. Our location is a highlight of Jendela di Bali because we strike the perfect balance of being away from tourist hotspots, but close enough to visit Ubud for galleries, museums, dance, cuisine and shopping, offering a truly unique experience for guests. See our separate page in this guide for further information.

Distance from JdB: 30-45mins

Visit tips: Do take both of the special routes into Ubud – whichever way you go, along the way you'll be able to stop at many of the sites listed in this guide and enjoy stunning scenes and experiences.

Gunung Kawi | Tampaksiring (northwest of the villa)

Gunung Kawi is an 11th-century temple complex in Tampaksiring north east of Ubud in Bali, Indonesia. It is located near the river Pakerisan. The complex comprises 10 rock-cut candi (shrines) carved into the cliff face. They stand in 7-metre-high (23 ft) sheltered niches cut into the sheer cliff face. These monuments are thought to be dedicated to King Anak Wungsu of the Udayana dynasty and his favourite queens.

Distance from JdB: 20mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: There are many steps to descend to the bottom...just take your time coming back up, where you will find a small café.

Tirta Empul | Tampaksiring (northwest of the villa)

Tirta Empul Temple is one of the important Hindu temples located in the middle of Bali. Tirta Empul Temple was constructed during the rules of Candra Bayangsingha, King of Warmadewa dynasty in 926 AD. The temple is a popular sacred destination where Hindu Bali people visit for purification rituals. According to a popular Balinese legend, the sacred water spring in the temple was created by Lord Indra and the waters have curative properties.

Distance from JdB: 20mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: One of central Bali's most beautiful water temples, fed by natural springs. This is an extremely holy place for the Balinese and is a regular place of pilgrimage for them during temple and family ceremonies.

Gunung Kawi Sabtu Temple | Sabtu (northwest of the villa)

Not to be confused with Gunung Kawi, The Gunung Kawi Sabtu is a water temple built in homage to the God Wisnu (the preserver who rules over water) and here there are a number of natural spring and waterspouts and a wonderful pond with Koi. The Balinese believe that water is one of the forces of life. The etymology of Gunung Kawi means a fabricated mountain. It lies west of Sabtu village, which is elevated and its name means 'slipping on a stone'.

Distance from JdB: 25mins | Recommended visit time: 30 mins+

Visit tips: This is one of Bali's most beautiful small temples and a must visit - but one most tourists will never find.

Goa Rang Reng Waterfall and Cave | Banjar Gitgit (south of the villa)

Bali has many waterfalls but this would be one of its best-kept secrets – few locals outside the immediate area know about it or have visited, let alone tourists. These rapids are formed by the joining of two rivers and hours could be spent sitting amongst the rapids admiring the pristine jungle setting. There is a holy cave with spring used for purification ceremonies and meditation.

Distance from JdB: 10mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: You could visit here at any time of the day, but one option would be later afternoon for a swim, followed by a visit to the Gianyar night market (see below). There is a cost of Rp15,000/person (about $3) that goes to the Banjar.

Tegallalang Rice Terraces | Tegallalang (west of the villa)

The Balinese landscape is very much devoted to wet rice agriculture and this farming is the most important activity in Balinese life. Rice is both the major crop and staple food and is interwoven into spiritual life as well. The rice terraces of Tegallalang offer a dramatic small valley view as well as giving visitors a more aerial view of the 'Subak' irrigation networks that feed the terraces (this system of irrigation is so unique and significant it is World Heritage Listed). Visitors can view the terraces from the ridge and there is also the opportunity to walk down into the valley and through the terraces to get an up-close view.

Distance from JdB: 25mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour

Visit tips: This is a somewhat 'touristy' destination, being just north of Ubud. You may find the drive through rice fields from Jendela di Bali to here offers more serene fields – but as it is on the way to Ubud it is worth stopping for the dramatic valley perspective it offers as part of a day trip taking in other sites such as the temples of Tampaksiring or if you are heading to Ubud for lunch.

The Pakirisan River | Flows through the valley (west, near the villa)

This river is claimed to be world heritage listed in many guidebooks and brochures but it would seem that it is actually the Pakirisan Valley generally and the Subak rice irrigation system that is the subject of the listing. Nevertheless, the river is the lifeblood of the valley and worth a stop to admire. There are also tube rafting adventures from Tampaksiring going down the river, which Bali Individual can book for you.

Distance from JdB: 10mins | Recommended visit time: 20mins+

Visit tips: The river flows through many wilderness areas in the valley that are inaccessible but the best spot to see it and be able to walk down to it is from the bridge crossing north of the villa that connects our side of the valley with Tampaksiring. You will cross this bridge if you are going to Gunung Kawi, Tirta Empul and Tegallalang (which is also the northern, scenic route to Ubud) so ask your driver to stop on the bridge and walk down to the rivers edge if you able or you can admire the river from the bridge.

Kintamani and Mount Batur volcano | Kintamani (northwest of the villa)

Stand on the edge of the caldera and view the active volcano of Mount Batur. Then drive down into the caldera and discover ancient Balinese villages along the shores of Lake Batur whose way of life and customs have been unchanged for centuries.

Distance from JdB: 45mins | Recommended visit time: 2 hours+

Visit tips: Treks to the central crater are possible but best done with a pre-arranged tour so discuss this with Bali Individual who can make the necessary arrangements for you. These treks start very early in the morning.

Gianyar Night Market | Gianyar (south of the villa)

From around 4pm until 10pm the Gianyar market and the main street are a hive of activity. Mobile warungs wheel in to serve Babi Guling (roast suckling pig), fish, nasi campur and more. In the market itself, stalls sell clothes, sweets, ornamental fish, household goods and more. There is nothing touristy here – it is very much local people shopping for themselves. You'll probably be the only tourists there but you'll be most welcome!

Distance from JdB: 20mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: We only suggest trying the food if you have a seasoned travellers' stomach. For those who are accustomed to street food we can share that we have eaten here many times and never had a problem. A reasonably safe treat for any guest would be deep fried bananas - ask for ones cooked in front of you.

Goa Gaja (Elephant Cave) (southwest of the villa)

At the façade of the cave is a relief of various menacing creatures and demons carved right into the rock at the cave entrance. The primary figure was once thought to be an elephant, hence the nickname Elephant Cave. The site is mentioned in the Javanese poem Desawarnana written in 1365. An extensive bathing place on the site was not excavated until the 1950s. These appear to have been built to ward off evil spirits.

Distance from JdB: 20mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: This is on the way into Ubud (southern route) and makes a great stop along the way. You will find cheaper handcrafts in Ubud than here.

Yeh Pulu | Bedahulu village, near Goa Gaja (southwest of the villa)

This site is home to a relief sculpture 25 meters long and two-meters high. The sculpted relief was only discovered in 1925 and is believed to narrate the life of the people in the 14th century. A man on a horse throwing a spear and two people carrying the animals they hunted are some parts of the ancient stories narrated in the carvings. In the Balinese language, the word 'yeh' means water and 'pulu' means earthenware jug so 'Yeh Pulu' is named after an earthenware jug that was used to keep rice and placed in the middle of a sanctified spring.

Distance from JdB: 20mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+

Visit tips: As for Goa Gaja, this is on the way into Ubud (southern route) and makes a great stop along the way. There are guides offering rice field walks from Yeh Pulu for a small fee and this offers a pleasant experience and supports the local guides who care for the monument.

Keramas Beach | Keramas

Directly south of the villa is Keramas Beach (and a range of other beaches along this coastline). The beaches here are black sand. Most beaches will have warung serving fish dishes to pilgrims who come to the beach for ceremonies. It is possible you will see Balinese arriving in trucks in large groups with Gamelan orchestras and Barong to conduct ceremonies on the beach. After a cremation, for example, some of the ashes and many offerings will be bought down from the village to the beach as an essential part of the ceremony.

Distance from JdB: 30mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour+ Visit tips: This is not a safe beach for swimming.

Ubud

Once a sleepy hillside village with little more than endless rice fields and earthen pathways, Ubud was nevertheless considered from early times as Bali's artistic centre. This pedigree attracted early European artists who developed a wonderful relationship with their Balinese hosts. With royal patronage, these artists settled here and built lives around artistic pursuit. They developed their own artwork and gained inspiration from the Balinese culture but also shared their skills generously with their hosts.

Today, Ubud offers a rich insight into Balinese art and culture. Galleries, museums, dance, cuisine and the natural environment together with shopping and dining offer a truly unique experience for guests.

Two Routes to Ubud from Jendela di Bali

There are two routes from the Villa to Ubud.

The normal route most drivers will take and (possibly a faster route, so the one we normally take if wanting to go direct) is going south from the Villa, down the hill toward Gianyar (with nice rice paddy and village scenes) and then west to Ubud (along more built up but still interesting roads, with many locals' shops and daily life to view).

However, a more 'scenic' route is to go north of the villa and cross the bridge at Susut Village (your driver will need to look out for the sharp left turn off the Petak Kaja Road to Susut – if he asks for 'the bridge to Tampaksiring' locals will guide him if he does not know). At Tampaksiring you can explore Gunung Kawi and Tita Empul. Then head west toward Tegallalang (again, locals will give directions) stopping at Gunung Kawi Sebatu before heading south to Tegallalang (rice terraces) and then Ubud. Even if you do not want to stop at the temples, this is a pleasant drive to Ubud through rice fields, villages and up and down valleys with lots of photographic opportunities.

Of course, you could take one route into Ubud and the other back to get the full circle trip and decide which is your favourite.

Day Trips Further Afield

Penglipuran Traditional Village | Kubu, near Bangli (northeast of the villa)

A truly beautiful traditional village neatly aligned along a cobbled avenue. Featuring beautiful bamboo roofs, earthen walls and gardens, each home follows a uniform design based on the rules of Kosala-Kosali Asta. The village is aligned with the spatial concept in Hinduism with three parts, called the tri mandala. In the north corner of the village there is a shrine called the Pura Bale Agung. In the middle there are parks and residential homes. This location is called the middle mandala. In the lowest part, called the mandala insult, there is a cemetery complex known as the Setra.

Distance from JdB: 35mins | Recommended visit time: 2 hours

Visit tips: Could be combined with a visit to Taman Nusa Architecture Cultural Park for a full day outing. Park and feel free to wander through the village but ask before entering homes. Consider buying their decorative painted baskets or a drink from a small warung as a way to support the village.

Kerta Gosa | Klungkung (southeast of the villa)

The gardens of Taman Gili, in which Kerta Gosa sits, were built in 1710. The ceiling of this meeting place shows artwork depicting good vs evil. Kertha Gosa is a building where the king announced legislation, jurisdiction, penalties etc. Balinese culture has its own system called adat, meaning traditional law, but for serious offences Kerta Gosa was the end of the line. Kerta Gosa is located right in the center of Klungkung. The entire complex is known as Taman Gili, but the name Kerta Gosa is better known.

Distance from JdB: 35mins | Recommended visit time: 1 hour

Visit tips: Visit earlier in the day when it is a little cooler. Can be combined with a visit to Taman Nusa Architecture Cultural Park which is about half way from the villa to Klungkung. Go to Kerta Gosa first, then back to Taman Nusa and have lunch here.

Tirtagangga | Ababi village near Amlapura, Karangasem (east of the villa)

Tirtagangga is a water garden belonging to the royal family of Karangasem. It is located in Ababi village, 6km north of Amlapura, the capital of Karangasem regency. Tirta Gangga water palace is a stunning collection of pools and fountains surround by gardens with stone carvings and statues. Tirtagangga was built in 1946 by the late King of Karangsem but was destroyed almost entirely by the eruption of nearby Mount Agung in 1963. It has been restored and has an air of authentic royal magnificence. The centrepiece of the palace is an eleven tiered fountain.

Distance from JdB: 90mins | Recommended visit time: 2 hour+

Visit tips: This is a very picturesque water garden and worth the trip. You can stop at Kerta Gosa on the way.

Goa Lawah | Pasinggahan (southeast of the villa)

Goa Lawah means 'bat cave' and this is a place of religious importance to the Balinese people. The temple was founded in 1007, by Empu Kuturan. Though the temple is small, it is considered very auspicious and is one of the 9 kayangan jagat (directional temples). There is a natural cave where thousands of bats live on the north side of Gua Lawah Temple. Goa Lawah is on the main road from Klungkung to Amlapura.

Distance from JdB: 35mins | Recommended visit time: 30mins

Visit tips: This is worth a stop on the way to the east coast including Padang Bai beach. Don't worry – the bats are friendly!

Padang Bai Beach | Padang Bai (southeast of the villa)

Padang Bai is a port of transit for the neighboring island of Lombok and beyond. It is a sleepy fishing village situated in a perfectly sheltered bay. A flawlessly shaped bay cradled by hills, it is said to be one of the most relaxed white sand beaches on Bali. There are hidden coves a short distance down the coast. The hills behind the bay present gorgeous views of Nusa Penida across the Bali Strait.
Distance from JdB: 60mins | Recommended visit time: 2 hours+
Visit tips: Lunch on seafood and explore the beaches to the north and south.

Pura Ulun Danu | Lake Bratan, Bedugul (northwest of the villa)

Pura Ulun Danu Bratan at Bedugul, is one of the most famous attractions in Bali. On the shores of Lake Bratan, the beautiful temple Ulun Danu Bratan is quite breathtaking and certainly one of the most-photographed temples on the island. Ulun Danu Bratan is one of Bali's 9 'kahyangan jagat' (directional Temples) which protect the island from evil spirits. According to the ancient manuscript of the Mengwi Kingdom, Pura Ulun Danu Bratan was built in 1633 by I Gusti Agung Putu, the King of Mengwi. On the shore of the lake are two multi-tiered merus. The bigger 11-tier meru is the abode of the god of Gunung Mangu, Wisnu. The other shrine is that of Lingga Petak. It is smaller and further away in the lake. This shrine, with a three-tier meru is dedicated to Shiva.

Distance from JdB: 90mins | Recommended visit time: 2 hours+

Visit tips: In addition to visiting the temple, we highly recommend a visit to the lakeside Botanic Gardens nearby. Also nearby is the Bali Treetop Adventure Park (www.balitreetop.com). To do the temple, gardens and the Treetop Park would be a very full day so plan to leave early!

Nature and Adventure Parks

Bali Safari & Marine Park | Gianyar (south of the villa)

Bali Safari and Marine Park is located on 40 hectares south of Gianyar city. There are 60 species represented amongst the 400 animals here, many bred in the park. Combining Balinese cultural ambience with African savannah, Bali Safari and Marine Park is home to Sumatran elephant, Sumatran tiger, white tiger, leopard, komodo dragon and cheetah - just some of the fascinating animals that can be seen at the Bali Safari and Marine Park.

The park is home to around 250 different species and has the largest collection of Indonesian birds in Indonesia as well as many species from other tropical areas of the world.

Uluwatu Temple (west coast) - A stunning temple on a hillside with magnificent views of the Indian Ocean and sunset as a backdrop.

Besakih Temple (east Bali) – Bali's most important 'mother temple' on the upper foothills of Mount Agung, east of the villa. Over a thousand years old, steps ascend through split gates to the main courtyard where the Trinity shrines are wrapped in cloth and decorated with flower offerings. If you have an interest in Balinese temples and want to discover the temple most significant to Balinese, a visit here is worthwhile.

Sangeh - The famous Monkey Forest set in heart of the only primary forest in southern Bali. This forest consists entirely of pala (nutmeg) trees. The monkeys living here are considered sacred.

Centres of Interest

Celuk - The center for Balinese gold and silversmiths. More than 40 jewellery workshops are located along the road from Batubulan to Celuk (and many more are in the back streets. The jewellery made here is exported worldwide.

Sukawati - Famous for its art market (Pasar Seni) and dalangs (puppeteers). Set in a two-floor building, the art market sells everything from statues and puppets to dance costumes.

Sanur – Sanur beach has long been a popular recreation site for people from Denpasar. It is the original 'holiday' precinct on Bali and was the place the first expats settled. The palm-lined beach curves from the Bali Beach Hotel toward the south, facing the Indian Ocean towards the east. Sanur offers restaurants, shops and other tourist facilities. Offshore reefs protect the beach against the waves to make it popular for wind surfing, boating and other water sports.

Ubud Dance and Cultural Performance Schedule

We have a book in the library at the villa that explains all the various dances to help you choose the ones that appeal most to you. Your driver will know the location of each of the dances listed below – all are in central Ubud. It is quite safe to buy tickets from street sellers who are often out in the afternoon selling tickets to that night's performances – they are usually volunteers selling tickets to support their village.
